When Secretary of War Wilson was in France last month, French soldiers told him they would never fight against many colored soldiers. "You are forgetting," he replied, "that there are other military leaders," the secretary of the Negro soldier. He then mentioned the "fighting Fifth" and the "fighting 368th," and the soldiers at San Juan, Luzon, the Philippines and in Central. Some of the colored regulars have been sent to fight in several European states, and are

WILSON CLASS BEGIN TRAINING

The Colored men of St. Louis, who have had excellent military training at Battery A, Kansas, and at Battery B, Fort Belvoir, at St. Louis, are beginning their training for the purpose of being organized into a unit of the National Guard. The training is preliminary to drilling the 100th Central Postal Directory, which is now being organized at Fort Belvoir. The training is being conducted by the St. Louis National Guard, which is now being organized at Fort Belvoir.
